PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT
Holy Spirit, You who makes me see everything and who shows me the way to reach my ideals. You who give me the divine gift to forgive and forget from all that is done to me and You who are in all the instincts of my life with me. I, in this short dialogue, want to thank You for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from You, no matter how great material desires may be. I want to be with You and my loved ones in Your perpetual glory. AMEN. Thank You for Your love toward me and my loved ones. Pray this prayer three consecutive days without asking for your wish. After the third day, your wish will be granted. Promise to publish your dialogue as soon as your favor has been granted. J.A.F.

Local Treasures

Our local Historical Societies do much to preserve our past and help us reflect on what came before us. Thanks to the work of the Perkasie Historical Society, children (and adults) today still get to experience Menlo Park and the magic of its famed carousel which dates to 1892.

Perhaps the name is a mere coincidence, but the famous Thomas Edison (known as the "Wizard of Menlo Park") was making news everywhere in the 1870s with his multiple inventions at his laboratory in Menlo Park, New Jersey.

From 1892 to its peak, Menlo Park was an exciting destination for trolleys filled with families wanting to enjoy the amusement park which boasted a "moving picture" hall, roller-skating, bowling, an ice-cream parlour, soda fountain and even an on-land toboggan, the first in the United States! Perhaps the most loved feature of this great park was the carousel with hand-carved wooden horses, all powered by steam. In 1895, a building, which still stands today, was built to house the Carousel so it could stay up year-round. In 1951, the current carousel with 36 jumping horses replaced the original carousel.

Times changed, the park became less relevant, and all the rides, with the exception of the carousel, were sold off.

As we can imagine, the carousel and the 1895 building which houses it, have been impacted by time and weather. A community-supported major restoration project occurred in 1994-1996. Along with major structural repairs to the building, local artists repainted the horses giving them their unique and colorful appearance that we know and love today.

The Perkasie Historical Society maintains the Carousel and strives to recreate a nostalgic experience, even recreating the band organ music which was an important part of the carousel experience back in the 19th Century. If you are interested in learning more about the history of the Carousel or the town of Perkasie, visit perkasiehistory.org. New volunteers are always welcome. Opening Day 2025 for the Carousel is Sunday, May 11th, 12 noon 'til 5 pm.

February Is National Bird Feeding Month!

It was established by Congress in 1994 to encourage individuals to provide food, water and shelter to help wild birds survive, especially during February, one of the most difficult months in the United States for wild birds.

Feeding the birds in your back yard can be a fun and educational hobby for the whole family.

PET OF THE WEEK

"Me" -- before Stray Cat Blues rescued me.

DUNKIN

Meet Dunkin!

Can you believe that was me? That's what I looked like when Stray Cat Blues found me. I'd been living in a Dunkin Donuts parking lot begging for help until finally someone listened. And now, months later, I'm a glossy, purring panther. Talk about what love and food will do!

My past wasn't easy, but today I'm a friendly boy who will greet you with a soft purr and a nudge of my head. Foster mama says my affection is as warm as a sunbeam. I just love humans so much! I crave sitting on laps and being showered with attention. I also absolutely love other cats and kittens.

I'm pretty smart too: I've learned to trust again, to hope for a home. My past was all about survival, but I didn't let it harden my heart. I still believe in love, in companionship. I deserve a home where I can be loved for who I am.

I do have a heart murmur, but I'm an active, healthy boy. Some people don't want to adopt me because of it, but I'm not giving up hope. I promise to be the best friend you'll ever have.

To meet Dunkin, go to straycatblues.org or call 215-631-1851. Stray Cat Blues is a 501(c)3 non-profit that's been rescuing area cats for more than 25 years. In addition to fostering and adopting friendly cats and kittens, we Trap, Neuter and Return (TNR) feral cats.

GARDEN TIPS

The "Buzz" about Native Plants

By Carol Schroding, Gardening Enthusiast and former owner of Northeast Native Perennials

FEEDING WILD BIRDS NATURALLY
 (This is the third in Carol's series on feeding birds naturally. If you missed her previous two articles on this topic, you can find them at Garden Tips at pennypowerads.com)

As you are thinking about how to feed the birds naturally with plants in your garden, of course, we think of the seeds, nectar and pollen provided by our flowering perennials. But it is also important to assess which plants serve as host plants to moths and butterflies, therefore providing critical food sources (caterpillars) for the birds.

According to the NativePlantFinder.nwf.org referenced in my last two articles, Goldenrod is one of the highest value host plants in our area, hosting a possible 126 different species of butterflies and moths. There are many different types of Goldenrod, some shorter and more well-behaved for smaller gardens. One of my favorites is ZigZag Goldenrod (Solidago flexicaulis) which only grows 1-3 feet and does not spread a lot like some of the other Goldenrods.

Next on the list is the Sunflower family (Helianthus) with 71 potential species of moths and butterflies using them as host plants. Some of my favorites are Swamp Sunflower (Helianthus angustifolius) and Woodland Sunflower (Helianthus divaricatus). Swamp Sunflower can grow up to 8 ft. tall and as the name suggests, prefers moist to occasionally wet soil. Woodland Sunflower can grow 5-7 ft. tall and tolerates a wide range of soil types and prefers partial shade.

Next time: More perennial host plants to feed the birds!

Thanks to Peter Walts for these spectacular bird photos.

THUMBS UP

To the honest and considerate person who took the time and effort to drop off the Boscov's package at my house today in Springtown that had been mistakenly delivered to their house. A huge thank you! The shipping company should pay you for delivering the package to the correct address.
