GARDEN TIPS

The "Buzz" about Native Plants

By Carol Schroding,
Gardening Enthusiast and former owner of Northeast Native Perennials

June Is National Pollinator Month!

Can you see the bee resting inside the flower?

The U.S. Senate passed a proclamation in 2007 designating June 24-30 as National Pollinator Week and was the initiative of the group called Pollinator Partnership (founded in 1997). It was created to focus public attention on the important role of pollinators in ecosystems and agriculture and encourage actions by the public to protect pollinators and enhance their environment. It was later broadened to the entire month of June to increase participation and engagement in related activities such as planting native plants, reducing use of pesticides and herbicides and protecting or creating natural habitats, as well as hosting community and educational events.

If you are wondering what the big deal about pollinators is, remember that one in three bites of food worldwide depends on pollination...a sobering thought! Celebrate National Pollinator Month by planting some native species that are pollinator-friendly, no matter what size garden you have! From balconies to patios to small yards to acres, whatever your space, you can contribute and participate! Consider reducing or eliminating the use of herbicides and pesticides on your property. If you are using these, you could be undoing all the good you are doing to provide for pollinators. Support farms that implement pollinator-friendly practices such as planting wildflower rows or hedgerows. Engage in community events and share your pollinator activities on social media.

Visit the website www.pollinator.org, the home of Pollinator Partnership organization, for wonderful information and educational materials. The Pennsylvania Game Commission has a program called Seedlings for Schools, where tree and shrub seedlings are distributed to students to take home and plant, after participating in an educational program about native plants and pollinators. There are lots of educational materials available on the Game Commission website as well. If you are a teacher, school administrator, board member or parent, consider having your school apply for this valuable program. It is available for K-12 students and Home School Co-ops as well. This year's seedlings are gone, and next year's program will return February 1, 2027.

Next time: More pollinator-friendly feature plants for your garden!

PET OF THE WEEK

SALLY

Meet Sally!

Whoever said good things come in small packages definitely had me in mind. I'm a petite, 1-year-old, little peanut full of purrs and pizzazz!

I came from a cat colony in Lansdale as a sick tiny baby with my sister and, boy, was I feisty. I did finally figure out that the eye drops the humans were giving me for my eye infection actually made me feel better...so humans are in fact pretty great. Who knew??

Once you earn my trust, I will become your very own love machine. I pretty much purr on command and go absolutely nuts for play time. I will sit on your lap and let you tell me all about your day, listening with rapt attention even though I may secretly find human stories a bit trivial (add a mouse in there, though, and I'll be truly riveted!). I'm the perfect little cat package!

If you've got a quiet home and are up for earning my trust, I promise to be the best little friend a human could ask for. Come meet me!

To meet Sally, go to straycatblues.org or call 215-631-1851. Stray Cat Blues is a 501(c)(3) non-profit that's been rescuing area cats for more than 25 years. In addition to fostering and adopting friendly cats and kittens, we Trap, Neuter and Return (TNR) feral cats.

Gift Card Contest

If you enjoy scrumptious farm-to-table cuisine, then this week's contest is for you! Much of the food served at Wonder Kitchen comes from their very own organic farm, Wonder Garden, located in Hellertown and other local farms. Serving delicious, fresh and nutritious food is their passion. In fact, Wonder Kitchen was the winner in Penny Power's 2026 Readers' Choice Award for best Farm-to-Table Restaurant. This week's winner will receive a $25 gift card so you can sample some of the delicious flavors that Penny Power readers voted "best." The Wonder Kitchen Asian-style farm-to-table restaurant is located at 102 E. 4th Street in Bethlehem. This week's winner will be treated to a tasty meal carefully crafted with fresh, local ingredients in a very welcoming and relaxed setting. Today, June 17th happens to be National Eat Your Vegetables Day! Since vegetables are so yummy and we couldn't decide which one to choose, we decided to hide a variety of vegetables. You will recognize them by their smiling faces – a carrot, an onion, broccoli and corn-on-the-cob. There are 10 total but we're not telling you how many of each veggie. Now you'll be boiling mad if you peel through the ads too quickly. So slice and dice with care and slowly saute your way through 'til you've mashed all ten companies' names where the veggies are hiding on the lines below. Your correct entry will be entered into the contest for the $25 gift card to Wonder Kitchen. Enjoy, Good Luck and Happy National Eat Your Vegetables Day!

THUMBS DOWN

To the white schoolbus students van on Monday June 8 just after 3:00 PM on Ridge Valley Rd then turning into Tower Rd. You were 3/4 over the yellow line on my side causing me to slam on my breaks to avoid a head on accident, my 2 seat belted dogs in the back and the items on the front seat to go flying and not paying attention to my car horn. You don't deserve to be driving children. I should have turned around and gotten your licence number.
