QUAKERTOWN ROTARY HOSTS QCHS “FOUR-WAY TEST” SPEECH COMPETITION

Since 1943, the “Four-Way Test” has been a guiding principal for Rotary clubs throughout the world. The “test” asks us to consider our thoughts, speech and actions for truth, fairness, building good will and being beneficial to all concerned. Rotary International hosts an annual competition for high school students to create and deliver a speech that applies these ethical principles. The Quakertown Rotary sponsored a competition at the Quakertown Community High School where students spoke on matters that were important to them and applied the above guiding principles. Club President, Sue Deily presented each participant with a monetary gift and a Certificate of Congratulations for their thoughtful and inspiring speeches.

GARDEN TIPS

The “Buzz” about Native Plants

By Carol Schroding,
Gardening Enthusiast and former owner of Northeast Native Perennials

Gardening with Deer, Part I

When you live where we live, deer are a part of the natural surroundings and their appetites are inescapable! I always say I have a love-hate relationship with my deer. Of course, I enjoy seeing them as part of the local wildlife and the fawns are especially sweet to observe! But then the gardening season starts in earnest, and the deer start munching! Actually, you don't have to live in the woods to have deer browsing your garden. My sister-in-law lives in a development in Warminster, and she has deer that jump her fence into her yard! So many gardeners are dealing with “What can we plant that the deer won't eat?”

I've learned over many years of gardening and having been in the nursery business that there are no guarantees when it comes to the “deer buffet!” I used to think that Red Beebalm (Monarda didyma) was a safe and deer-proof plant. They were growing here 47 years ago when we moved here and only over the last 5 or so years have the deer started nibbling them. Last year they decimated a beautiful stand in my pollinator garden, and they only seemed to eat the flowers! I am sure you've noticed that the nursery trade uses the term “deer-resistant,” not “deer-proof!”

There are some plants the deer seem to ignore such as ferns, grasses and sedges. Deer can tell the palatability of plants through smell, taste and texture. Some plants contain toxins that will make the deer sick. Others contain aromatic oils that the deer do not find pleasant. Still others contain needle-shaped calcium oxalate crystals that make browsing unpleasant.

In the next article, we will talk about a list of plants that contain some of these attributes and seem to be less palatable to the deer.

Next time: Gardening with Deer, Part III!

THUMBS UP

Early on the morning of the last blizzard, I awoke to a cold house. My heater would not start. Snow was still heavily falling, roadways were not totally passable, and the cold threatened to freeze pipes in my home. I texted the heater repair man I found in the Penny Power who came out to clean my heater over a year ago. I hoped by some miracle he could get to my home to fix the heater. He phoned me at 8:30am and despite having other clients to address, was at my home by noon. He repaired broken parts, spent a few hours, and even returned the next morning to assure all was perfect. I expected to be surcharged for an emergency visit especially in such weather. To my grateful surprise, his bill for all the work was less than half of what I would have expected given comparison to other providers in the past. His work and manner were efficient, skilled, and my heater works better than ever. Thank God there are still reputable business people who do not take advantage of a bad situation and whose honesty, integrity, skill, and work ethic are beyond reproach! Thank you to Penny Power for listing such great advertisers!

THUMBS DOWN

To Daylight Saving Time. We are really not saving daylight, it's a misnomer. We're just moving daylight from am to pm. It makes it hard for anyone who has early morning chores that have to get done before work and also for all the students getting on the bus or driving to school in the dark. I vote to stay with standard time.

FRANK

Meet Frank, the mellow gentleman with a heart of gold!
Frank's story started when he was found wandering a Quakertown neighborhood, politely asking anyone who passed by to let him in. Once he landed in his loving foster home, there was no hiding his sweet personality.

Frank is a laid-back, affectionate guy who loves being around people and soaking up attention. He's the perfect mix of mellow and curious—happy to lounge in a sunny spot, nap the afternoon away, or watch the world go by from his favorite window perch.

He is amazingly gentle with the kittens in his foster home, and even tolerates the dogs!

Frank has a heart murmur that doesn't hold him back or require treatment; it's just part of what makes him so special.

If you're looking for a calm, loving companion with a gentle soul, Frank is your guy!

The Xerces blue's habitat was destroyed by development in the sand dunes of San Francisco, and the species was declared extinct by the 1940s.*
