GARDEN TIPS

The “Buzz” about Native Plants

By Carol Schroding,
Gardening Enthusiast and former owner of Northeast Native Perennials

EARLY BLOOMING SPRING PERENNIALS

Over the last four weeks, we’ve explored the world of native Spring Ephemerals, which after they complete their bloom and seed set, die back for the summer and disappear until next spring.

Now we’ll look at native perennials that bloom early but retain their foliage throughout the summer. First to bloom in my garden is Native

Pachysandra or Allegheny Pachysandra (Pachysandra procumbens), a lovely low groundcover for shade. In early spring they shoot up fragrant fluffy white blooms that are attractive to pollinators. It is more clumping than its cousin, Japanese Pachysandra, so does not spread as quickly, but forms a beautiful cover nonetheless.

Jacob's Ladder (Polemonium reptans) is another early blooming, beautiful blue/purple bloom perennial that, over time, spreads by seed to form a gorgeous colony of plants. The foliage is almost fern-like and very attractive. The flowers provide early nectar for native pollinators. It prefers moist soil and partial shade and is relatively low maintenance.

Another of my favorites is Golden Alexander (Zizia aurea) and a favorite of the early pollinators as well! It provides golden yellow clusters of flowers that provide a very important early source of pollen and nectar. It prefers a medium moist location in full sun to part shade and can also be used in rain gardens.

Next time: More early blooming Spring Perennials!

National Therapy Animal Day is April 30th.

Perhaps you are a Penny Power reader who already “met” 4 wonderful therapy dogs in our 3/19 issue. Axel, Bliss, Olaf and Nellie help children become more confident readers at the library. It's truly astonishing the positive impact certain animals can have on us humans. And it's not just dogs. Cats, horses, bunnies and more can provide comfort and help us through stressful times.

I set out to learn more about therapy animals working in our local community and stumbled upon a website called “Tails of Valor®” right in Quakertown. The Tails of Valor®, Paws of Honor website is very inviting and they even offer tours of their facility. My experience touring Tails of Valor® was both educational and emotional. I learned the difference between a service dog and a therapy dog. And while Tails of Valor® mainly focuses on service dogs, their puppies do spend time working as therapy dogs as part of their training when they are youngsters.

Since 2014, Tails of Valor® has been providing rehabilitation services for veterans, law enforcement and emergency personnel. We barely need to state that the above-mentioned heroes routinely see things most of us pray we never will see let alone experience first-hand. Some horrors cannot be forgotten and they take a toll on a person's well-being.

Tails of Valor® trains dogs to help these heroes have their best quality of life despite the traumas they've experienced.

Early socialization helps prepare the dogs to be comfortable every place humans go, including places that can be too stressful for most of our pets. Tails of Valor® is always in need of puppy-raisers who foster the puppy until they are old enough to start training for their real job of being of service to a hero. Each Tails of Valor® dog is named in honor of a fallen soldier. Another hero's story lives on through the dog.

The puppies are trained for service from the time they are youngsters. Eventually they meet a hero who is the right match for them and a new training and bonding program begins. Dog and human learn to work as a team. Mutual love and trust are key. If you see a service dog wearing a vest, it means they are working and it's best not to ask to pet that dog. The reason is because when a service dog is working, they are completely focused on the immediate well-being of their person, that's their job.

Tails of Valor® is a remarkable organization that demonstrates exceptionalism post tragedy. These highly skilled dogs are given at no cost to Tails of Valor® clients. Tails of Valor® is a 501(c)(3) privately funded by donations. Learn more about Tails of Valor® at tailsofvalor.org.

GIFT CERTIFICATE CONTEST

How exciting would it be to take Mom (or yourself) to McCoole's at the Historic Red Lion Inn?! The fun begins outside with Claude the Mule. Then before you even step inside, just think about all the history that's taken place at this very spot -- from its origins as a tavern in the 1740s, the Revolutionary War, the ghosts and the tunnels of the Underground Railroad. Step inside to the Martini Lounge with piano and then don't miss the spot where Lassie had his lunches. You may choose to try the famous colonial birch beer and then get ready to enjoy a delicious meal. Find the 10 penguins hiding throughout our ads. Why penguins? Well, of course, because April 25th is "World Penguin Day!" Be on the lookout for any penguin singing, dancing or just plain looking adorable. Write the names of the companies where the 10 penguins are hanging out. Your correct entry will be entered in the drawing for the $50 gift certificate. Enjoy swimming, diving and waddling through our ads and Good Luck!

PET OF THE WEEK

PIP

Meet Pip!

Every now and then we meet the perfect cat: a dapper little dude who loves every fellow feline he meets, has never met a human stranger he didn't want to snuggle with, and who loves to play and purr in your lap in equal measures. Pip is absolutely that cat. And the craziest thing is that he has been waiting for his forever home for more than a year now. We are baffled!

What is it about Pip that keeps getting him passed over? Maybe he's too cute? Maybe it's the way he lets you trim his nails with no fuss? Maybe it's because he loves head kisses too much? Or he's too tidy of an eater and litter box user? Oh! It must be how he puts every cat he meets instantly at ease. Or that he warms your lap a little too well? Or because he can sense when you've had a bad day and becomes your purring little shadow?

If you're looking for the perfect little cat, Pip is undoubtedly your boy. He's around 5 years old, and is a very healthy, FIV positive kitty. Most cats with FIV live long, normal lives, even with other cats (Pip's foster room buddies are all FIV-negative!). He's ready to spend the rest of his life making your life even better. He just needs the chance. And boy does he deserve it!

To meet Pip, go to straycatblues.org or call 215-631-1851. Stray Cat Blues is a 501(c)3 non-profit that's been rescuing area cats for more than 25 years. In addition to fostering and adopting friendly cats and kittens, we Trap, Neuter and Return (TNR) feral cats.

Stray Cat Blues Inc.

STRAY CAT BLUES foster care program may be a great volunteer opportunity for you.
