Happy NATIONAL PET DAY!

April 11th is National Pet Day, celebrated annually to recognize the joy pets bring into our lives and also to raise awareness for those pets waiting in shelters for their forever families to come along, find and adopt them. Pets are wonderful companions. Experts note that pets have the ability to reduce our stress levels, lower our blood pressure, and improve our mental health. This is a special day to give our pets an extra treat or cuddle and to remember there are many great pets right here in our local shelters and rescue foster homes waiting to be adopted.

GARDEN TIPS
The "Buzz" about Native Plants
By Carol Schroding,
Gardening Enthusiast and former owner of Northeast Native Perennials

Spring-Flowering Native Trees, Part II

Fringe Tree (Chionanthus virginicus) is a beautiful small native tree, not widely known, but valuable for its fragrant white flowers attracting bees and butterflies. Then its black fruits which form in late summer are prized by birds and small mammals. It grows from 12-30' and is adaptable to many soil and light conditions, making it a low-maintenance choice for homeowners. It also serves as a host plant for 10 different butterfly and moth species in our area. Worth seeking out; you may have to go to a Native Plant Nursery to find this gem.

Valued for its ornamental appeal in landscapes, Flowering Dogwood (Cornus florida) is another small well-known tree native to eastern North America, blooming in the spring. In fall, its leaves turn a vibrant red to purple and the red berries that have formed feed the songbirds, gamebirds, small and large mammals alike. The seeds contain high calcium and fat content making them highly palatable to the birds and animals. It is an understory tree preferring partial shade, although in cooler climates it will tolerate more sun.

Another little-known spring blooming native tree, best found at a native plant nursery, is Carolina Silverbell (Halesia Carolina). Silverbell grows 10-40' high. The flowers are white tinged with pink, bell-shaped in clusters of 2-5 flowers that attract hummingbirds, bees and butterflies. It is a host plant for the Eastern Tiger Swallowtail, Mourning Cloak, Eastern Comma, Red-spotted Purple, and Viceroy butterflies. Halesia does not tolerate drought conditions and may require extra irrigation during drought periods.

We need everyone to help create monarch habitat. That means more pesticide-free native milkweeds and nectar flowers. If we act now, monarchs can recover.

Our name (which is pronounced Zer-sees) comes from the now-extinct Xerces blue butterfly (Glaucopsyche xerces), the first butterfly known to go extinct in North America as a result of human activities. The Xerces blue's habitat was destroyed by development in the sand dunes of San Francisco, and the species was declared extinct by the 1940s.

PET OF THE WEEK

MR. WILSON

Meet Mr. Wilson!

No need to clean your glasses, folks; you're not seeing things. I am, in fact, truly this good looking. You're probably not used to seeing such a gorgeous gray specimen of fluff, and all I can say is: You're welcome.

I am Mr. Wilson, a 2-year-old gentleman with looks and personality to spare. While my name is rather formal, I can assure you that I am obsessed with playing. Don't get me started singing the praises of that wonderfully elusive laser. I'm also a talker. I have much to say, and I'm sure you will find all my observations most astute. I dearly love to be around people, though do not pick me up, thank you very much, and you may pet me if you have a Churu in your other hand--a man must have standards. I confess that I do enjoy a good brushing during breakfast.

I'd be happiest in a home with no children and no dogs (I mean, who wouldn't be, amirite?), but I must insist on having fellow feline companions. If you are patient and cat savvy, I think we'll get along famously. I very much look forward to making your acquaintance.

To meet Mr. Wilson, go to straycatblues.org or call 215-631-1851. Stray Cat Blues is a 501(c)(3) non-profit that's been rescuing area cats for more than 25 years. In addition to fostering and adopting friendly cats and kittens, we Trap, Neuter and Return (TNR) feral cats.

MULCH SPECIAL Free bed edging with any mulch install of 6-yards or more. Spring clean-ups, shrub trimming landscape design and installation, lawn mowing, decorative stone installation, flower bed enhancements. Call Dave 610-203-4874.

WANTED: BASEBALL, FOOTBALL, Basketball, Hockey. Cards, autographs, photos, memorabilia. Licensed corporation. Will travel. "Nobody pays higher cash prices than Bill!" Call for questions regarding what you have. 908-596-0976. allstar115@verizon.net
